The latest rumor from the South, that Gen. Scott has been chosen President pro tem. of Mexico! though palpably absurd, is not necessarily false. The enactment of an absurdity would be by Whig ahead, 2550. Do last year, 4,054. no means a novelty in the distracted Republic on our Southern border. If Gen. There is no victory like that.

MAINE holds her State Election to-day, and all we hope from it is the election of one Whig to Congress, which will be a gain to offset the foolish loss in Rhode Island. The Whigs might secure an 'Allied' House, with no choice for Governor and a majority of the Senate, but they appear to be part drowsy and the rest fast asleep. It is against the rule for Maine Whigs to vote oftener than once in three years, and we believe this is not voting ear. Sorry.

The confused summary transmitted by the Western Telegraph of news recently received at St. Louis from Santa Fe is important as confirming the many previous accounts of the awful prevalence of lawlessness, outrage and crime throughout New-Mexico under the 'regenerating' rule of Col. Price and the Missouri Volunteers. Briefly. the sway of our Government in New-Mexico is bounded by the range of its cannon and musketry. while even within that narrow limit, its control is ideal. The Volunteers however demoralized will obey promptly if ordered to slaughter and disperse a hostile army, since self-preservation imperatively demands this, and defection would seal their doom. But order them to refrain from insulting and domineering over the conquered ings and outraging women,-and they will not obey-at least, many will not; and the exigencies of the service often constrain even good officers to wink at crimes which they reprobate yet dare not punish. 'In war, laws ent : and the soldier who has suffered severe to wh privations and braved imminent perils for his counry thinks it a burning shame if he is not allowed to appropriate to himself some of the most congreater number when enlisted are virtuous, temperate, self-restrained. a powerful minority notomaly are not and their discourse and example rapidly diffuses its contagion to others. Voltaire vices and crimes of half a century of Peace are exceeded by those of a single campaign. And it is the nature of the evil to wax worse and worse. Comparatively few men ever imbibed principles of temperance, purity, and bumanity in a camp. while the number who there acquire a taste for and addiction to the vices opposed to these qualities is incalculable. gon Question was politic and just, as Mr. Owen asserts, and we have never doubted, then the preceding vote extching bluster of the Baltimore Convention was an execrable trifling with the peace and safety of the world from the basest impulses of faction; and the clear implication that the Whigs, if entrusted with power, would concede to our rivals in Oregon what their opponents would not, was a fit associate in infamy of the Kane letter and the 'bloodless Annexation of Texas —Such is the black case which confronted Mr. Owen in his attempt to defend the conduct of Poik & Co. with regard to Oregon. Why did he not deal with it manually! rape, murder and vengeance for these and kindred crimes have been daily incidents through the last six or eight months, is included within the boundaries of Texas ! as laid down by Houston & Co. and maintained at the point of the bayonet by President Polk. If their infamous falsehood that, in the collisions on the Rio Grande preliminary to the recognition of War, 'American blood was shed on American soil, had been truth, then the Governor of Texas ought long since to have asserted jurisdic demanded and enforced the termination of Mil tary despotism there, and, instead of allowing a Delegate to Congress to be chosen thence, should have organized election districts and had polls opened throughout for Governor, Member of Congress, Ac of Texas. But nothing like this has ever been attempted, and the fact that the Santa Feans are only restrained by a formidable Military force from rising and cutting the throats of all our countrymen among them, is a fitting commentary on the boast of 'bloodless Annexation.' And it is remarkable hat Mr. Polk himself, in the same Message where in he labored to establish the Rio del Norte as the rightful boundary of Texas, boasted of our conquest of New-Merico among other departments, forgetful that he was thus claiming (truly) as a conquest, what he had just before included within the limits of voluntarily surrendered Texas.
